N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission

Nongame & Endangered Wildlife Fund

Painted bunting by Brady Beck Photography

Ensuring North Carolina's rich wildlife heritage for generations to come

NORTH CAROLINA NONGAME & ENDANGERED WILDLIFE FUND

North Carolina's wildlife needs your donation!

Donations to the Nongame and Endangered Wildlife Fund enable the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission to conserve hundreds of species and their habitats for future generations of North Carolinians to enjoy and appreciate.

The Fund receives donations primarily through two sources: your North Carolina State tax returns and the Wildlife Conservation License Plate. Your donation to the Nongame and Endangered Wildlife Fund goes entirely to projects that support the conservation and management of nongame animals, like songbirds, turtles, bats, and many others.

Visit ncwildlife.org/conserving to see projects supported by the Nongame and Endangered Wildlife Fund.

For every dollar donated to the Fund, North Carolina can receive up to $1.86 in match from the federally supported State Wildlife Grants program. The Fund is supported entirely by private donations, which are tax-deductible.

Whether you love to hunt, fish, bird watch, or just want to do your part to ensure that wildlife in our state has biodiversity, please consider donating to the Nongame and Endangered Wildlife Fund and help the Wildlife Resources Commission keep North Carolina wild.

www.ncwildlife.org/give

For more information about planned giving, contact:
Cecilia Edgar, Deputy Director
cecilia.edgar@ncwildlife.org; 919-707-0015